To All Concerned:

I pray that you will recognize that no paper could express the good words necessary to acknowledge the good works of my personal friend and comrade in the fight to save America's at-risk youth. I speak of none other than Mr. Cedric L. Dean.

As the founder of Reaching Out Beyond Bars Organization (ROBB) I found in Cedric a man dedicated to the social reform necessary to reach the youth. Cedric brought his street acumen to bear on the revitalization of all core elements of ROBB. He wielded his knowledge through several of his personal goals in the publication of a plethora of motivational, inspirational and instructional books aimed at correcting the ills of a generation of youth gone wild.

Cedric's leadership skills in dealing hands-on with the young men inside America's worst prisons, is a testimony of his fervent desire to change them from themselves. Cedric's love of humankind coupled with his tenacious courage to go where many men are afraid shows his stalwart and resilient spirit. Those of you reading these words should cogitate their intrinsic value to you, your respective organizations and the world.

Cedric Dean has traveled the rough and rugged road with me and is truly enlightened to what lies ahead of him. He is prepared to carry the torch of righteousness into a world of chaos and turmoil. I implore you to open your heart and help us all plot a course toward returning him back to society where he can expand beyond the concrete walls and steel bars that confine him today. Thank you for reading these words and may God bless us all with the light of understanding.

Sincerely,
Eugene Linwood, Jr.
